

GAIN Capital's FOREX.com Expands Offering to Include Equity Index CFDs; Launches New Website with Enhanced Web and Mobile Trading Capabilities

LONDON, June 23, 2010 – GAIN Capital, a global provider of online trading services, today announces the addition of equity Index CFDs to its FOREX.com offering and the launch of a new website for its international clients, featuring enhanced web and mobile trading capabilities.

FOREX.com's equity Index CFDs give clients access to trade popular global equity markets, representing major indices in the UK (UK100), Germany (GER30), France (FRA40) and the US (SPX500).

"We are excited to announce the launch of new equity Index CFDs to our clients across Europe, the Middle East and Asia, along with the rollout of enhanced web and mobile trading capabilities," said Glenn Stevens, CEO, GAIN Capital. "Our ambition is to offer our clients access to the world's most exciting global markets. The addition of Index CFDs alongside our existing forex, metals and oil products is an important milestone in that regard."

Over the coming months, the range of Index CFDs will be further extended to include other popular Asian, European and US markets. To help clients develop trading ideas and strategies for these new markets, the FOREX.com research team will expand their commentary and analysis to include equity indices within daily, weekly, and longer term research.

Web Trading

FOREX.com's newly revamped website (<http://www.forex.com>) features comprehensive web trading capabilities along with enhanced educational resources.

With web trading, FOREX.com clients have access to a simplified, intuitive interface with easy-to-use trading and order management tools, interactive charts, an economic calendar and daily and weekly research. Web trading complements the company's award-winning FOREXTrader PRO platform for active traders.

Mobile Trading

FOREX.com has also released a mobile version of the new website, optimised for popular smart phones and web-enabled devices, including iPhone and Google Android. The mobile site, which offers trading and account management alongside access to real-time rates, market information and research, is accessible to every client and registered practice account user through their usual account login. To access the mobile website, simply go to www.forex.com from any supported mobile device.

Trader Education

New educational resources available on FOREX.com include a full library of "video tutorials," training modules, articles and other text-based content, as well as an expanded schedule of webinars and events. Prospective customers are encouraged to take advantage of the complimentary resources along with a 30-day practice account in preparation for opening a live account.

*FOREX.com's Contracts for Difference (CFDs) are offered through GAIN Capital – FOREX.com UK, Ltd, a subsidiary of GAIN Capital Holdings, Inc., and are not available to US residents or where otherwise prohibited by local regulation. The CFDs are offered with a margin requirement of just 1% and are commission free, with the trading cost built into the spread.
