

SaskTel and LiveWire Mobile Introduce New DRM-Free Music Service

Leading Full-Service Communications Provider in Saskatchewan Province Offers its 550,000 Customers Cutting-edge Music and Mobile Application Storefront

LITTLETON, Mass., July 15, 2010 – Saskatchewan Telecommunications Holding Corporation, or SaskTel, the leading full-service communications provider in Saskatchewan Province, Canada, has rolled out an innovative DRM-Free music download service powered by LiveWire Mobile, Inc. (Pinksheets: LVWR), a leader in managed personalization services.

The new service features music tracks from a broad range of major music labels. The company's 550,000+ wireless subscribers have the option to purchase their music tracks individually or as part of a bundle with other assets ranging from wallpapers and ringtones to ringbacks and mobile apps. Consumers can browse the full range of applications and make their purchases from the SaskTel integrated online storefront, custom developed by LiveWire Mobile.

"Our DRM-Free music service launch, just days after we announced the technical trial of our new 3G+ wireless network, shows our commitment to cutting-edge services and options for our customers," said Lucas Piller, Marketing Manager, of SaskTel.

SaskTel provides telecommunications services to 13 cities, 535 smaller communities and surrounding rural areas including 49,000 farms. The corporation has over 425,000 business and residential customers.

"The core of the new SaskTel service is our Infuse personalization platform," said Matthew Stecker, CEO, of LiveWire Mobile. "Infuse's flexibility allows operators multiple pricing model options including a la carte, subscription and all-you-can-consume."

The high quality downloads are available unencrypted in up to 256 Kb/s for purchase and delivery across both PC and mobile channels.
