FOREX.com Becomes Exclusive U.S. Provider of tradable Platform

tradable is world's first open trading platform for retail forex traders

NEW YORK, Sept. 11, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- FOREX.com, the retail division of GAIN Capital Holdings, Inc. (NYSE: GCAP), announced today that it is partnering with tradable in order to deliver the first open trading platform for forex traders to its clients. The tradable platform is now available in the United States exclusively to FOREX.com clients and will soon be extended to FOREX.com clients globally with a broader product offering including CFD's.

Voted the most innovative financial product at the ForexMagnates Summit in London 2012, tradable allows traders to create a completely customized online trading platform using third party developed apps. From tradable's appstore, traders choose from apps designed for social trading, charting, market data and more.

"We are excited to be the first broker to bring tradable to forex traders in the US," said Muhammad Rasoul, Chief Product Officer, GAIN Capital. "Consistent with our pledge to deliver innovative tools to our customers, tradable is a groundbreaking platform that challenges the status quo about what people should expect from their trading interface."

"FOREX.com is an important partner for tradable," said Jannick Malling, Co-founder & CEO of tradable. "With their strong brand and global reach, FOREX.com's support for tradable will help push the industry into a new era that is more open and collaborative, giving traders an unprecedented personalized trading experience."
