Secure-24 Recognized as a Best Place to Work in Information Technology by IDG's Computerworld

SOUTHFIELD, Mich., June 22, 2015 /PRNewswire/ -- For the third consecutive year, Secure-24 has been named to the List of 100 Best Places to Work in Information Technology (IT) by IDG's Computerworld.

Secure-24 earned the #4 slot among small organizations on the 2015 Best Places to Work in IT list, an annual ranking based on company offerings such as benefits, career development, training and retention. In 2014, the company was ranked #11 among small companies on the list, and in 2013, it was listed as #57 among organizations of all sizes.

"Offering managed IT, application hosting and cloud service solutions with the highest quality of service to our clients requires significant investment not just in technology, but in talent," said Mike Jennings, CEO, Secure-24. "To be recognized as a top workplace not just once, but three times, is a testament to our ongoing dedication to creating a positive and engaging environment that encourages our employees' personal and professional growth."

Innovation and initiative are strongly encouraged and rewarded at Secure-24. Employees that display outstanding performance in these areas are recognized with bonuses and monthly awards. The company also provides free training as well as certification reimbursement for employees seeking to continue their industry education.

"The 100 organizations on Computerworld's 2015 Best Places to Work in IT list realize that attracting and retaining a highly-skilled technology workforce leads to competitive advantage," says Scot Finnie, editor in chief of Computerworld. "In a tight market for tech talent, these outstanding employers attract the best and brightest IT pros with generous salaries and top-drawer benefits, then deepen their teams' engagement with challenging, business-critical projects built around cutting-edge technologies. As a result, these winning organizations are best positioned to take advantage of the digital transformation sweeping through every industry."

Secure-24 promotes a healthy work-life balance as well as a strong sense of community within the organization. The company regularly hosts picnics, holiday parties, team outings and company-wide lunches and happy hours. Employees also receive 100 percent company sponsored benefits and flexible schedules with unlimited vacation days based on individual needs. The Secure-24 Wellness Committee encourages healthy living by organizing health awareness, support and education initiatives. Employees have access to free fruit and healthy snacks as well as on-site fitness centers.

About the Best Places to Work in IT list
The Best Places to Work in Information Technology (IT) list is an annual ranking of the top 100 work environments for technology professionals by IDG's Computerworld. The list is compiled based on a comprehensive questionnaire regarding company offerings in categories such as benefits, career development, training and retention. In addition, Computerworld conducts extensive surveys of IT workers, and their responses factor heavily in determining the rankings.
