Legrand Boosts Sales and Product Teams with Two Promotions

Tom Oliver named Director AV & Security Sales, Eastern U.S.; Jason Evans Elevated to Product Manager, Audio Products, Nuvo and On-Q

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., July 10, 2017 – Legrand, the global specialist in electrical and digital building infrastructures, announced two promotions that will boost its sales and product teams. Tom Oliver and Jason Evans were named director, AV & security sales, eastern U.S. and product manager, audio products, Nuvo & On-Q lines, respectively.

In his new role, Oliver will work closely with AV reps, distribution partners and dealers to facilitate sales of On-Q and Nuvo products. Evans will oversee the development and support of new audio products in the On-Q and Nuvo product lines.

"Tom and Jason have proven their value with significant contributions in their careers at Legrand, as well as in their past roles in the AV, custom install and security product industries," said Fritz Werder, Legrand VP and general manager, On-Q and Nuvo lines. "We look forward to working together with both of them in their new roles to build on our success in 2017 and beyond."

Oliver has more than 25 years of industry experience, most recently serving as Midwest market manager and Midwest channel manager in his five-year tenure at Legrand. Previously, he held various titles at several organizations, including Clare Controls, Sound & Vision, Crestron, Home Theater Authority, Best Buy and Circuit City.

Evans has more than 15 years of experience in custom installation, previously holding a national trainer position at Legrand. Before that, he was an install operations manager at ADT, the owner and CEO of Components Electronic Systems in Mesa, AZ, and an operations manager at Automated Environments in Mesa.
