

Sweden's Checkin.com Taps Feintuch Communications for Strengthened U.S. Market Focus and Business Development Campaign

Tech company with global SaaS offering working to set new internet standard for digital identity verification in regulated industries

NEW YORK and STOCKHOLM, June 17, 2024 – Stockholm, Sweden-based Checkin.com, an enterprise software company that has revolutionized digital identity verification of users in travel and fintech in Europe, has picked Feintuch Communications to support its increased focus on the U.S. market and its business development campaign.

Founded in 2017, Checkin.com is part of Checkin.com Group AB, a Swedish public company listed on the Nasdaq Stockholm (CHECK:FN Stockholm). The company is working to set the Internet standard for 'check-ins' by leveraging its sophisticated user design methodology, data sources and identity solutions to provide the best possible onboarding and verification experience for each customer at check-in, helping their customers increase user onboarding while staying in full regulatory compliance across markets.

"The Checkin.com framework is a new generation of AI-driven software for biometric and non-biometric digital user identification in regulated industries on a global scale" said April Rae Mallord, general manager, U.S., Checkin.com. "We are partnering with the Feintuch team due to its strong experience in helping global technology brands to successfully penetrate the U.S. market."

"Checkin.com has developed a best of breed solution for helping businesses identify their customers or travelers – online and offline – in much the same way that fintechs have created simple, safe and efficient solutions for payments at checkouts," said Henry Feintuch, president, Feintuch Communications. "We will work closely with company management in Sweden and the U.S. to build a marketplace presence, educate prospects and help to generate leads."

Checkin.com already provides its services to international brands including Klarna, Ryanair, Telus and Pacaso with a specialty of serving clients in regulated industries including financial services, crypto, travel and online gaming, among many others.

Feintuch Communications' Checkin.com team is led by Feintuch and Doug Wright, vice president. The firm has represented numerous organizations in related markets including Klarna and SplitIt (buy now pay later), Optimal Payments (payments), BorderX Lab (e-commerce), Forex.com, NCR and Vaultavo (crypto custody).
